

Press Release

Reorganization of mta automation's General Management

Michel Assaf, CEO and President of mta automation ag since 1997 has decided to reorganize the General Management of the company as follows:

To enable him to focus on strategic developments for both mta automation and the unitechnologies group, he has appointed Emilio Stornaiuolo, who worked as Sales Director starting from January 2005, as new CEO of mta automation from the 1st of April 2008.

Furthermore, Bruno Thomann, Technical and Production Director since 2004, has been appointed as authorized representative of mta automation. For the record, Mr. Thomann joined the company in 1993.

Michel Assaf remains President of the Board of Directors of the unitechnologies group companies.

Besides, Johannes Hannig, CEO of mta automation deutschland gmbh since 1991 will retire at the end of April 2008 after actively representing mta automation. Utz Esser, who has been working with mta automation Deutschland gmbh since September 2006 as Sales Manager, has taken over the activities of the company as CEO starting from the 1st of April 2008.

mta automation congratulates Emilio Stornaiuolo, Bruno Thomann and Utz Esser for their new positions and thanks Johannes Hannig for the excellent work accomplished by him.

mta automation ag, based in Gals (Switzerland) and part of the unitechnologies group, designs and produces assembly systems, with key-competences in selective soldering and volumetric dispensing processes. For further information on the company, please visit www.mta.ch.
